

Man who spent $14K to transform himself into collie steps out for...

Dear Abby: I busted my dad cheating on our mom with other men

Millions of US workers near retirement age have zero money...

A woman lived in a van outside my building and used my...

I eat 3,000 calories in three hours every day — I feel better...

I've been on a drug like Ozempic for nearly a decade — here's...

LIFESTYLE

Brothel offers free sex 'session' to patrons who get COVID vaxx on-site

By Ben Cost

November 9, 2021 1:16pm Updated

Vienna brothel offers COVID-19 jabs and free entry

MORE ON: PROSTITUTION

Video shows open-air prostitution in yet another NYC neighborhood

Rare glimpse inside a NYC brothel reveals shocking images of depravity

Sicko who chained sex worker in cinder block cell beat his wife, threatened to kill her and kids

Neighbors of man who allegedly kept woman hostage say he was 'menace' who lured young girls into his home

Guess a spoonful of "sugar" really does make the medicine go down.

An Austrian brothel has devised an ingenious way to incentivize people to get the coronavirus vaccine — by offering promised patrons a free fling with a prostitute of their choosing if they get immunized at the bordello.

"We are very popular," Christoph Lielacher, director of the Fun Palast in Vienna, told Reuters of the enticing new initiative, which they created in response to the recent government mandate barring the unvaccinated from restaurants and other indoor areas amid an infection spike last week. The measure — known as 2G — had reportedly caused a 50% dip in the number of clients at the brothel, the Daily Mail reported.

To help stem the financial hemorrhage, Fun Palast is offering the COVID jab every Monday from 4 pm to 10 pm through the end of November. Best of all, men who get inoculated on-site will be gifted a free 30-minute session in the skin merchant's VIP club with the "lady of their choice." Think of it as a sexy nurse role-playing scenario but with actual medical care.

The Fun Palast in Vienna is offering on-site jabs to men, women and children.
REUTERS

"Many men, very many men with a migration background, virtually refuse vaccination or don't even know that you can be vaccinated," lamented Fun Palast manager Peter Laskaris. "And since we are actually reaching this target group, we decided to set up a vaccination street here."

And the cathouse's inoculation station isn't just open to lecherous adult men.

Boys as young as 14 are reportedly allowed access to the clinic, provided they have an adult with them, while women are also being encouraged to head to the Fun Palast for a coronavirus shot.

Business has skyrocketed following their clever skin-centric program.

"Since the 2G rule (vaccinated or recovered) has been in place, there has been a real rush to get vaccinated," said Laskaris. "We have had a lot of people come in today to get vaccinated."

The bordello created the skin-centive program in response to the recent government mandate barring the unvaccinated from restaurants and other indoor areas amid an infection spike last week.
REUTERS

"I would have gotten vaccinated anyway but the 2G rule has certainly accelerated things a little," said one satisfied vaccine recipient known only as Gerhard (surname withheld). "And since an acquaintance of mine organized this action I thought: Let's go for it."

He added, "I think this is perfectly OK because we can achieve a better immunization rate this way and that's necessary to end the pandemic at some point."

The bordello boss Lielacher hopes that the initiative will help the country achieve the 70% to 75% vaccination rate required for herd immunity. Currently, only 63% of Austrians have received the jab, the National News reported.

Fortunately, thanks in part to the new 2G restrictions, doctors have already administered 213,000 coronavirus jabs this week — the highest number since early August, the Local reported.

Fun Palast isn't the first organization to offer perks for the inoculated. In a much less sexy incentive program on this side of the pond, Pennsylvania Gov. Tom Wolf offered state employees five days of paid leave if they got the vaccine at a city-run site.

FILED UNDER BROTHELS, CORONAVIRUS, COVID VACCINE, PROSTITUTION, 11/9/21

READ NEXT Man survives 170 rounds of chemo over 14 years to become a...

136 People Reacted

What's your reaction to this article?

Top Notch

157

So-so

15

Next!

76

MORE STORIES

PAGE SIX

Smiling Ben Affleck hugs ex Jennifer Garner and their kids as the brood meets up in Italy

NYPOST

Social media influencer walks free after Union Square giveaway leads to riot and sends several to hospital

NEWYORKPOST