

EXCLUSIVE: Face masks may raise risk of stillbirths, testicular dysfunction and cognitive decline due to build-up of carbon dioxide, disputed study claims

- The NIOSH eight-hour threshold limit for safe CO2 concentrations is 0.5 percent
- The researchers found that almost all of the studies exceeded that standard
- But studies were in mice and rats and didn't look directly at effects of mask use
- Authors have been criticized for drawing conclusions without proper evidence

Face masks may raise the risk of stillbirths, testicular dysfunction and cognitive decline in children, an 'explosive' new study has claimed.

Authors of a review of dozens of studies on face coverings suggested they can cause mild carbon dioxide poisoning when worn over long periods.

The German academics who carried out the research believe masks create a pocket of dead space between the mouth and mask, which traps the toxic gas.

They say the build-up of CO2 in pregnant women's bodies could cause complications for the unborn fetus. They point out that CO2 also contributes to oxidative stress, which can affect cognition and cause testicular issues in men.

But independent doctors have questioned the conclusions of the study — which never directly looked at health complications and mask use, describing the link as 'unlikely'.

What did the CO₂ mask review find?

CO₂ exposure caused brain damage, heightened anxiety and poorer memory in young mice

CO₂ exposure led to destruction of testicular cells and sperm in male mice

Stillbirths and birth defects after exposure to CO₂ +3
View gallery

One study the German researchers looked at found that just 0.3 percent prolonged CO2 exposure to both pregnant rats and young mice led to brain damage, heightened anxiety and poorer memory. Another found that male mice exposed to 2.5 percent CO2 for four hours — equal to 0.5 percent for humans — resulted in the destruction of testicular cells and sperm. A third study found that three percent CO2 (equivalent of 0.8 percent for humans) in pregnant rats caused stillbirth and birth defects

Alluding to the surge in stillbirths during the pandemic, the German researchers said: 'Circumstantial evidence exists that popular mask use may be related to current observations of a significant rise of 28 percent to 33 percent in stillbirths worldwide.'

'[And] reduced verbal, motor, and overall cognitive performance of two full standard deviations in scores in children born during the pandemic,' the researchers wrote in the paper, published in the journal Heliyon.

But the study could not conclusively prove that the masks were directly responsible for any of these complications.

Dr Stuart Fischer, an emergency care physician in New York, questioned whether there was a 'toxic buildup' of CO2.

He said: 'I wouldn't say this happens, because the body adjusts the pH, the acid/base balance very quickly. Respiratory acidosis due to facemasks is unlikely although short-term side effects might affect people with chronic lung disease.'

The German research team gathered data from 43 previously published studies on exposure to CO2, mask-wearing and pregnancy.

They found that after wearing a mask for more than five minutes, CO2 levels in the inhaled air rose to between 1.4 percent and 3.2 percent.

One mask study conducted in Germany, researchers measured the CO2 concentration of air behind surgical masks worn by 15 healthy men. Within 30 minutes, the CO2 concentration rose to roughly 2.8-3.2 percent.

In another study in Italy, scientists measured the air under surgical masks worn in a lab and found a concentration between 0.22 and 0.29 percent within five minutes.

Masks provide breathing resistance and create a dead space that traps CO2, leading to more inhaled and re-breathed CO2, the reviewers said.

The gas makes up around 0.04 percent of all inhaled air, for comparison, and the Department of Agriculture said safe levels should be below 0.5 percent for eight-hour exposure.

One study found that exposure to 0.48 percent CO2 for 10 minutes daily for 20 days in pregnant guinea pigs led to stillbirth and birth defects in 68 percent of pups

The researchers then looked at studies that focused on the effect of similar CO2 levels on animals such as mice and rats.

Mammals such as mice and rats with prolonged exposed to 0.3 percent carbon dioxide gave birth to offspring which had 'irreversible neuron damage', the review found.

In total, the researchers looked at studies dating back from the start of the scientific databases they searched until November 30, 2021.

The main caveat of the research is that the studies looking at the potential toxic effects of carbon dioxide are animal studies - because these experiments would not be ethical in humans.

The researchers also noted that none of the studies in their review looked directly at mask use and miscarriages, infertility and neurodevelopment disorders.

The researchers also noted that the exact effects of toxic levels of CO2 on unborn life is not known in great detail.

Carbon dioxide is known to contribute to oxidative stress, which the researchers suggested would hinder fetal development.

Dr Kevin Bass, cell and molecular biology PhD student, said on Twitter that the new paper was 'explosive'.

But he said: 'We do not have any good evidence in pregnant women... of the long-term effects of mask-wearing and therefore no evidence that these effects occur in women.'

He added: 'All we have are animal studies and a clear indication that changes in CO2 concentrations do occur in mask-wearing women.'

Stillbirths and pregnancy complications rose during the Covid pandemic, and preeclampsia and other pregnancy complications were blamed on the virus.

Factors other than mask-wearing are likely to be at play, such as hospital closures and delayed care.

It comes after three years of fierce debate about the effectiveness of masks.

The biggest review by the Cochrane Institute, the 'gold standard' of evidence-based reviews, based in London, found they made little to no difference to infections but smaller studies suggest there is a lower risk of catching Covid.

	Pretty obvious there could be nasty side effects. If wearing a mask to protect us from viruse ever a safe or sensible thing to do, after 80 million years of evolution would nature not have developed one. It did not, CO2 needs to be expelled and oxygen breathed in, mess with that basic function and fact of human life and there will be consequences. Still when has logic an human biology ever stood in the way of political agendas and objectives. The only surprise is many supposedly 'educated' people simply went along with the whole idea that wearing a fa mask did anything to stop a virus or prolonged use would have no consequences. There are ignorant parents making their children wear them, even today, goodness knows what harm t must be doing to young lungs still developing.

	Surgeons wear medical masks for a number of reasons. Mainly though to stop them gobbing open wounds when they are directly above them (or onto surgical instruments)...but also inc of grisle and fluids come from the open wound and go into the surgeon's gpb. Moved out of the UK during the second lock down because I couldn't watch i young children any more being locked up for month, then wearing masks, daily tests, washir with soap for 5 minutes at school and then still use alcoholic disinfectant on hands. Best dec ever. They went on with there sports here, went to school, no mask , no other rubbish. One f asymptomatic COVID but I was with COVID patients day and night at the hospital.

What was really nuts about this posturing exercise is that prior to it, there'd been countless peer reviewed studies done stating these exact same harmful side effects of mask wearing that were then cast aside through their inconvenience to the new fear narrative being pedalled. To the healthy, of course, the risk increases were always said to be unlikely to harm. That said though, it was still strongly recommended that they only be worn for short periods and that regular mask breaks were mandatory if wearing them was a regular part of your day to day job. But then, I guess, fact is always the first casualty of a propaganda exercise.

@Garth the word 'anti' is as overused as WOKE & SNOWFLAKE. We need oxygen, as we need water. Imagine drinking your water from an unwashed cloth mask, manufactured in a filthy factory in China or India with little care given to the cleanliness of the packaging or the packager. If you wouldn't drink water from it or immerse it in your water WHY put the filthy thing on your face that doesn't protect you or others?

You should read beyond the misleading headline for one thing, then look for the medical studies that prove that masks work.

Where are all the new studies stating masks and covid vaccines work? I don't see any. Matter of fact, there aren't any. Because it has been proven this whole mess has become a FAILURE. Allow me to show you... July 2021 CNN TOWN HALL BIDEN STATES: "You're not going to get COVID if you have these vaccinations," and "If you're vaccinated, you're not going to be hospitalized, you're not going to be in the ICU unit, and you're not going to die." THAT IS WHAT HE SAID. Copied and pasted directly from the CNN website transcript. Now studies are showing that those who got vaccinated are getting covid over and over again some at LEAST 7 times, and are ending up in the hospital because their immune systems have been so weakend by these vaccines, just doing the dishes makes them sick. It's now a fact of life. A pandemic of the vaccinated, as we warned would happen. Conspiracy Theories are now Spoiler Alerts. They are coming true.

Masks were about creating fear and control, not about stopping the spread of Covid. Covid can pass right through a cloth mask that 99% of people wear and you might as well wear a window screen for a mask. They knew all along masks did little to nothing to stop the spread of Covid. If mask worked the virus wouldn't have continued to spread like wildfire when the entire planet was wearing them all the time.

We were frightened into obedience by manipulated statistics and falsified death rates put out by a proven liars in government and the media. When our politicians gathered in their groups, unmasked, to eat curry or birthday cake, they must have felt entirely safe from the virus they told us was deadly. Best we remember the lies and hypocrisy of our politicians, when next they attempt to mask us and lock us down over the monkey pox, bird flu or some other scaremongering tactic.

Face masks (and all the other covid nonsense; lockdowns; groups of 6; social distancing; endless jabs etc) was about controlling and manipulating the masses. It was nothing to do with safety or saving lives. They were just copying other countries, so they were seen to be doing something, anything however daft it was. We did none of it. No masks, no hiding at home, and no jabs for us and we are glad we ignored the propaganda. The truth is slowly coming out.

People were essentially brainwashed during the pandemic because the whole thing driven by totally irrational and over the top fear. Masks were a big part of this and were used purely for psychological reasons and nothing else. If the media, masks and signs were taken away the public would have been no more aware of covid than they are the cold or flu. This was all before jabs obviously.

The masks were the final straw for me - it was infuriating that people went along with it without question despite the ludicrous rules. It was obvious that the masks didn't stop viral infection and were used as a toolkit for mass behavioural psychology. I honestly believe the Thursday night clap for the NHS was organised centrally too and wasn't an organic thing - it was completely orchestrated to keep people in fear and brainwashed. Absolutely bizarre period of time that the media has swept under the carpet.

Of course, masks were all about control and stopping people communicating, isolating people from each other and setting up aggression, the behavioural scientists thought it was great to make people wear them when summer was at its hottest and the virus at its lowest. Basic knowledge of our immune system is all the people need to know, that you build antibodies BY breathing the same air, touching objects and people. The viruses breed at the back of the nose and throat and to stop the viruses building up along with bacteria people need to breathe out unhindered, cough and sneeze. Not keep all this muck inside a mask to cause infections in the mouth, throat and lungs as the masks never protected against the viruses anyway. So people did need to pick up a small amount of the virus for their natural immunity to work, which they admitted at the time was far more effective than the jabs.

Try to understand the science of the simple paper mask. They are not close fitting ...they do not hinder the wearer's ability to exhale. They have little or no effect on preventing infection...they were never meant to. They were to prevent the spread of infected particles leaving an infected person's nose and mouth. Respirator type masks do protect the lungs ...always have done. Covid isn't great with natural immunity either as more and more are getting Covid more than once.

mjustsayingthis Your 'science' is flawed. The people getting repeated doses of covid are those immune systems have been damaged by the jabs. The masks only trapped bacteria and car inside the wearer's mouth, throat and lungs, no matter how loose fitting, now you are telling i also meant to trap the virus and infected particles in the mask to make people even more ill i covid. Fauci admitted that catching the Omicron variant gave much more protection with nati than the jabs and of course, we have since learned that the jabs were NEVER tested to see stopped covid spreading or people catching it, so they were always useless.

Vaers is the opposite of something being documented. It's the equivalent to an internet survey. I am not saying these crappy vaccines didn't cause a lot of different kinds of health problems, but to use Vaers as a source is nonsense. Anyone can report anything to Vaers but it doesn't mean it is true. I can report to Vaers the vaccine made my pen is shrink but doesn't mean it is true. :)

A simple search revealed the peer reviewed studies regarding the effectiveness of masks regarding viruses. The studies covered a period of over forty years. All concluded masks were ineffective in preventing infection. The pandemic guidance from the WHO stated no masks, no isolation. Governments ignored this and blindly followed China with pointless, ineffective, disastrous mandates, destroying the economy and people's lives. Never forget, never forgive.

If you dont, thats ok, as you are taking personal responsibility for yourself. It's controversial because it tells the truth. Before the pandemic face masks were known not to do anything. And the latest studies also show they they do nothing. They were simply an act of compliance, and hey have harmed many by it. But those too far gone, will still deny reality.

Article needs to report rate of stillbirths due to covid infections. People need accurate information in order to be able to protect themselves and unborn babies. Rate of stillbirths in Japan 1.5 per 1000. UK 3 per 1000. Ours is double their rate.

FFP2/3 masks offer extremely good protection against catching covid and other respiratory infections. These people are well informed. This article is tosh. It even says in the text their theory is not proven. DM knew their readers would like the headline and it would get them loads of clicks though.

I would agree FFP3 is very effective even against smoke and car exhaust particulates. If people want to wear them , then that is their business.

MRNA jabs were conceptually sound but in practice haven't yet been made to work as in every test have either been too mild or made the body attack itself if stronger. Some younger animals tested on would die of clots pretty quickly, however for the majority, their immune systems would be weakened leaving them vulnerable to illness and if that didn't finish them off, then cancers and other killers would quickly develop at far, far higher rates instead. Now imagine being a country that wants to be the world superpower that only needs to sponsor enough key people to launch and sell a targeted propaganda campaign to get its enemy's people scared enough to take this jab and then worse still, mandate all it's military to have that same jab too? Pretty draconian but an entirely effective way of winning a bio war without the need for bullets being fired to win it. The CCP want to end America's dominance as the world's leading superpower and are successfully executing their plan to achieve it.

We knew they weren't doing anything, we knew they were useless. I read the CDC study before they removed it during the pandemic saying masks didn't work. We know the risk is higher due to bacteria build up on masks. I see a child in a mask I think it's disturbing and disgraceful. I see a lone adult in a deserted street wearing one I think idiot.
