Planned Parenthood educator gives CHILDREN advice on how to acquire their own sex toys... and how to use vegetables and fruit as 'spicy objects' on TikTok

- Mariah Caudillo works for the Mar Monte affiliate of the pro choice organization
- Caudillo often specifically addresses youth in videos to over 418,000 followers
- One video shows 'spicy toys' can be replaced using fruits and vegetables

A sex educator who works for the largest chapter of Planned Parenthood also doubles as a TikTok star who directly targets young people with how-to's on buying sex toys and inanimate objects that can be used as a replacement.

Mariah Caudillo works for the Mar Monte affiliate of the pro choice organization and provides sex education to over 220,000 people every year in central California and parts of Nevada.

Caudillo often specifically addresses young people in her videos to over 418,000 followers on TikTok, @sexedfiles.

In one video she showed that 'spicy toys' as she calls them can be replaced in a makeshift fashion using fruits and vegetables, while in another she suggests everything from an electric toothbrush to an X-Box controller.

Caudillo has also accused sex education of being 'mostly written by white folks who have a tendency to do the bare minimum as it relates to... acknowledging the intersections of racial justice, social justice and reproductive justice,' according to Fox News.

She's also insisted that 'pleasure-based sex education can be tailored to meet the need of the youth,' having said that in another video that age shouldn't necessarily be the determining factor on when to start having sex.

A recurring feature of her TikTok account also includes reading aloud questions from middle schoolers and high schoolers about sex, contraceptives and bodily functions.

In one such video, she's asked if there's an appropriate age to purchase a 'spicy toy.'

Caudillo responded by saying that 'it's not illegal to buy spicy toys online, even as a teen, which most people do. You just have to purchase them with a valid credit card, debit card or gift card.'

She added: 'If you're curious about spicy toys, or you just want to explore what's out there or if you want to purchase them, or one, – whatever – is to do so online. Do keep in mind that some of these stores also have age restrictions on their website, but like this app, people can access them anyway.'

She also simulates using sex toys and putting condoms on an inanimate depiction of male genitals.

BREAKING NEWS

The reveal comes during a continued rocus on what public schools are teaching young children about sex, gender and gender identity.

Earlier Friday, the popular Libs of TikTok account noted that Planned Parenthood funds something called 'The Rainbow Room,' a club where teachers offer support for 'discussing topics relating to LGBTQ in school.'

The account also posted a photo from a program that showed children playing with sex toys and simulating sex acts.

In December, it was revealed an executive director at Planned Parenthood's sex education branch claimed that children are born 'sexual' and has called for comprehensive sex education from kindergarten - as well as porn literacy for older age groups.

"The Rainbow Room" is a club which is funded by Planned Parenthood. They partner with teachers to offer support for discussing topics relating to LGBTQ in school.

Executive director of Planned Parenthood's Center for Sex Education located in New Jersey, Bill Taverner, said 'we are all sexual beings from birth to death'

Bill Taverner, who has advocated for sexuality education at US congressional briefings, said in 2015 that 'we are all sexual beings from birth to death.'

He said: '[We have] in our society, an assumption of asexuality of people with intellectual disabilities.

'It's a myth that's perpetuated, and really we are all sexual beings from birth until death,' the executive director of Planned Parenthood, located in New Jersey, said.

The sentiment was echoed by Planned Parenthood, that said in a guide entitled the 'Fundamentals of Teaching Sexuality' that 'sexuality is a part of life through all the ages and stages.

'Babies, elders, and everyone in between can experience sexuality.'

But many have slammed Taverner's unearthed comments - saying that the ideas he peddled in fact 'promote pedophilia.'

My kids are adults now, and I have grandchildren. I cant imagine which parents feel that this is okalthough I am not going to judge those peoples decisions, or them in general. The article does not state whether or not the parents were aware of this class, or were required to grant permission. I think that this is indecent, and sets the children up for other problems- including sin. Also, kids are a bit gross- and 9/10 they put those fruits and veggies back in your fridge.....Think about that.

NO APPROPRIATE AGE??? Seriously!?! How about the fact that a middle schooler or high schooler can't afford to raise a child! Nore the maturity or possibly even a driver's license to get to and from doctors' appointments? Why had society become completely obsessed with Se??? My goodness, there is more to life than the facade of constant physical pleasure!
